BNOW Friends: Our next event is Thursday, January 21, 2010. Details are below. Please RSVP to attend. We look forward to seeing you. Thanks & Cheers, PP

Define Your 'Personal Leadership Model' and Thrive with it in 2010 Thursday, 21/Jan/09 at the Foreign Correspondent Club of Thailand 7pm to 9pm

In these turbulent times, recent research has:

- identified important leadership skills that help people and companies go ahead successfully
- showed that women 'naturally' tend to have some of the most critical leadership skills.

How about You?

- Do you really know your own leadership attributes?
- Do they serve your purpose fully?
- Can they drive forward your 'teams' at work or at home?
- How are you inspiring them?
- How effectively are you tackling the tough issues?
- What greatness could you achieve if you focused on it?

Join us on Thursday, 21st January at 7pm to 9pm at the Foreign Correspondent Club of Thailand to discover more about yourself and define that 'personal leadership model' which will help you thrive in 2010. You'll walk away more self-aware, focused and geared with your personal development plan. Open to males and non-members, the fee is 500 baht for members and 600 baht for non-members. The price includes dinner. Please RSVP by e-mail Oh@bnow.org.

BNOW (Bangkok Network of Women) provides a supportive network to women living and working in Bangkok. We have a weekly e-newsletter which takes contribution from the members. Members also enjoy privileges and benefits from selected businesses. The group has 2 events per month. Many of our events are open to non-members and males. The get together is to help members meet and interact, enabling everyone to put faces to names and to make new friends and business connections in Bangkok. For more information about our group, please visit www.bnow.org.

All services provided by BNOW are done in good faith. We cannot be held responsible for the quality of service or content provided by individuals or companies listings in the e-newsletter.
